Honors Courses

Honors courses are offered in the following high school courses: English, Latin, History, and Rhetoric. These require additional reading and writing (including summer work for some courses), additional assignments and assessments, and broader and deeper analysis and engagement in the subject matter. Students must meet specific prerequisites to be eligible for enrollment in honors courses.

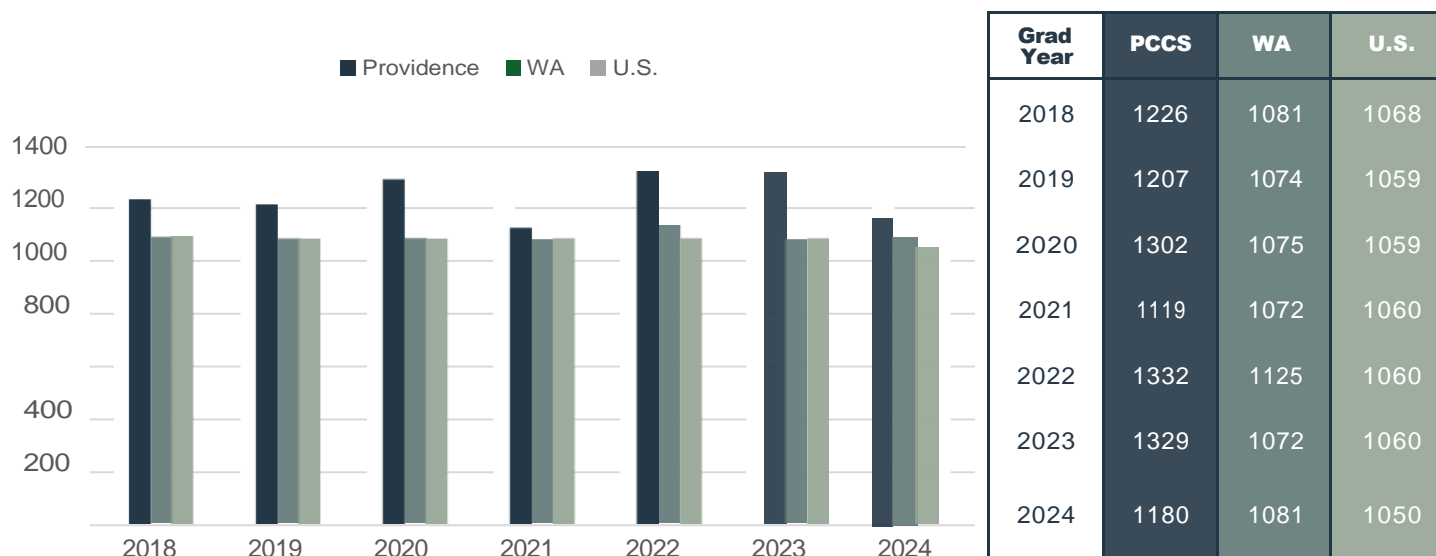

The following honors courses are available at Providence:

- Honors English (Grade 9, offered 2011-12 school year; grades 9-12, 2012-18; grades 10-12, 2018-present)
- Honors Rhetoric (Grades 11 & 12, offered 2012-13 school year to present)
- Honors Latin (Grades 9 & 10, offered 2012-13 school year to present)
- Honors History (Grades 11 & 12, offered 2018-19 school to present)
- AP Language and Composition (Grade 12)

Senior Thesis & Rhetoric

As a capstone to two years of Rhetoric class, all seniors write lengthy (15-18 page) Rhetoric thesis papers that address a political, cultural, or theological issue of controversy. Additionally, they must prepare a memorized oral presentation, consisting of a 15-minute speech and a 20-minute defense before a panel of faculty and expert adjudicators.

SAT Mean Scores

Additionally, of our 20 classes who have taken the PSAT examination, 15% of our students have been recognized under the National Merit criteria. As of the Class of 2024, 17 students have been Commended, 4 students have been Finalists, and 3 students have been awarded National Merit Scholarship status.

Providence School Life

Activities and Clubs

Providence has a robust student government, known as House Council, that plan student activities, peer-to-peer tutoring and student ministries/community service. Our athletic programs include soccer, volleyball, basketball, lacrosse, and track and field. Our Fine Arts program present musicals and dramas, along with offering Honors Art, Honors Choir, and Honors Band. We host and participate in various events throughout the year, including Protocol training (a manners and etiquette class and formal event), a Family Ball, and a European Grand Tour of Greece, Italy, and England. We also have a variety of student-led clubs, including: Art, Book, Chess, Food, Guitar, Math, Photography, Spanish, Spirit, and Tea Club.

The Secondary House System

Our 7th-12th grade House System serves as our means of student government, community service, social activities, friendly competition, and peer encouragement for our students. The House System consists of six houses, all of which fall under the guidance and leadership of student representatives. In each house, senior students are given special leadership roles to help facilitate house events throughout the school year.

College Matriculation Rate for Providence

93% of our graduates have continued their education at the university or college level. Other Providence graduates have gone on to serve in the armed forces or to attend trade schools. Our 164 graduates have attended over 45 different colleges and universities. The cumulative average SAT scores by Providence seniors rank among some of the top high schools in the state.
